

CAVIAR

CAVIAR

D'Artagnan's Ossetra Malossol Caviar is truly sustainable, harvested from Siberian Sturgeon (Acipenser baerii) that are humanely-raised in the Aquitaine region of France, known for agriculture, wine and fishing. That's where we found the finest humanely-raised, sustainable caviar available. The state-of-the-art aquaculture farm combines the height of technology with painstaking artisanal methods to produce truly superb caviar and follows the strictest of animal welfare and environmental protocols.

Malossol means "little salt" in Russian and, accordingly, we use very little of it. This caviar has a natural flavor and will not overwhelm your palate with salt. The round, plump grains have a lingering and nutty flavor reminiscent of hazelnuts or fresh walnuts. With ultra-silky mouth feel and a color that ranges from clear grey to golden chestnut to deep brown, this buttery caviar is truly unforgettable.

FEATURES & BENEFITS

QUALITY AND CONSISTENCY

Each female sturgeon is individually examined and its caviar is measured for size and firmness. Specialized handlers ensure only the best product makes its way to D'Artagnan.

SINGLE CANNING

Unlike most caviar, which is often re-canned several times after leaving the farm, our caviar is canned only once at packing and is not opened again until it reaches your restaurant.

LOW SALT AND NO PRESERVATIVES

D'Artagnan Ossetra Caviar is low in salt (<4% Salinity) and uses no artificial preservatives, like borax, meaning you will enjoy the pure, unadulterated, nutty flavor and silky mouthfeel for which caviar is most prized.

SUSTAINABILITY

D'Artagnan believes in partnering with farms that practice humane and sustainable practices; our caviar aquafarm is an exemplar of environmental practices that are good for the fish and the land. For instance, the farm's waste water actually runs cleaner than the same water at entry.
